

SOCKTOBER

University of Arkansas– Fort Smith | Office Of International Relations

Why Participate?

Socktober is an event hosted on the UAFS campus to collect new socks for the homeless community who needs sock for the winter. Socks collected will be donated to Next Step Homeless Services. For the month of October, international students will be paired up with their American buddies and another group of students to collect new socks. The team with the most socks will receive a prize from the Office of International Relations. This event was inspired by Kid President, who challenged many communities and schools around the world to collect new socks. There are many schools and organizations from all over the world that are participating this event by collecting new socks for those who are in need. Take this as a opportunity to better your community and make a change in the world.

Date: October 1– October 31

Who: International & American Buddy Teams

Location: Bring any new socks to be donated to the Office of International Relations (Vines 104)
